THE ART OF A PROPER ROAST

There's a reason roast dinners come into their own at this time of year. Warming, familiar and made for sharing, they're a favourite for bringing people together around the table.

From Yorkshire puddings, handmade each day and baked until beautifully light and fluffy, to creamy cauliflower cheese finished with Barber's Cheddar, Parmesan and a golden crumb topping, it's the little details that make all the difference. Add roast potatoes with their crisp, golden exterior and fluffy centre, rich beef dripping gravy and all the trimmings and you have everything you need for a proper British roast.

Simon's tip for the perfect roast potato

“Don't rush them. A roast potato can make or break a roast dinner. You need that crisp exterior and soft centre, and getting there takes time, often longer than people think.”

Head Chef of Lakeside, Simon Clarvis

For Head Chef Simon Clarvis at Lakeside, creating a great roast is all about balance. Every element plays its part, from the meat and vegetables to the gravy that brings everything together. Behind the scenes, Simon and his team take time over every dish, preparing the favourites guests know and love.

“There's so much care and preparation that goes into every dish,” says Simon. “Seeing guests smile after a meal is what it's all about.”

Corton has a way of slowing you down. Maybe it's the sea air. Maybe it's the clifftop views. Either way, there's no rush here.

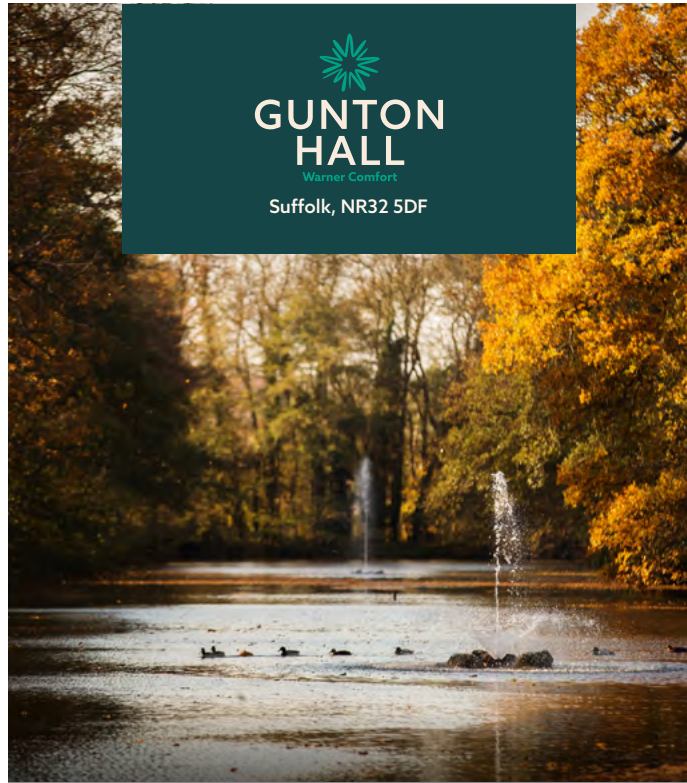

WHY GUESTS LOVE IT: Set amongst 55 acres of peaceful woodland with a picturesque lake and the beach just a short stroll away, Gunton Hall offers the best of coast and countryside. Explore the grounds, head to the Suffolk coast or the Norfolk Broads, or simply settle into one of the beautifully appointed Garden Lodges. With floor-to-ceiling windows, private patios and tranquil lake views, they're perfect for slow morning coffees or unwinding as the day draws to a close. Add hearty home-style dining, friendly service and live entertainment each evening, and you'll soon see why so many guests return time and again.

THE SECRET'S IN THE SMOKE

Slow-cooked lamb has long been a winter favourite. At Cricket St. Thomas, the Big Green Egg brings an extra depth of flavour to this much-loved classic.

Some dishes announce themselves before they even reach the table. The aroma comes first. The sort of smell that makes you wonder what's cooking and hope it's nearly ready.

At Cricket St. Thomas, that unmistakable aroma often comes from the Big Green Egg, where slow-cooked lamb is prepared with patience, care and just the right amount of time.

The lamb itself is a familiar favourite. What makes it distinctive is the gentle smokiness created by the Big Green Egg.

From selecting quality meats to marinating and slow cooking, every stage requires attention to detail. Guests are often drawn to the cooking process itself, stopping to chat with the chefs and watch the Big Green Egg at work.

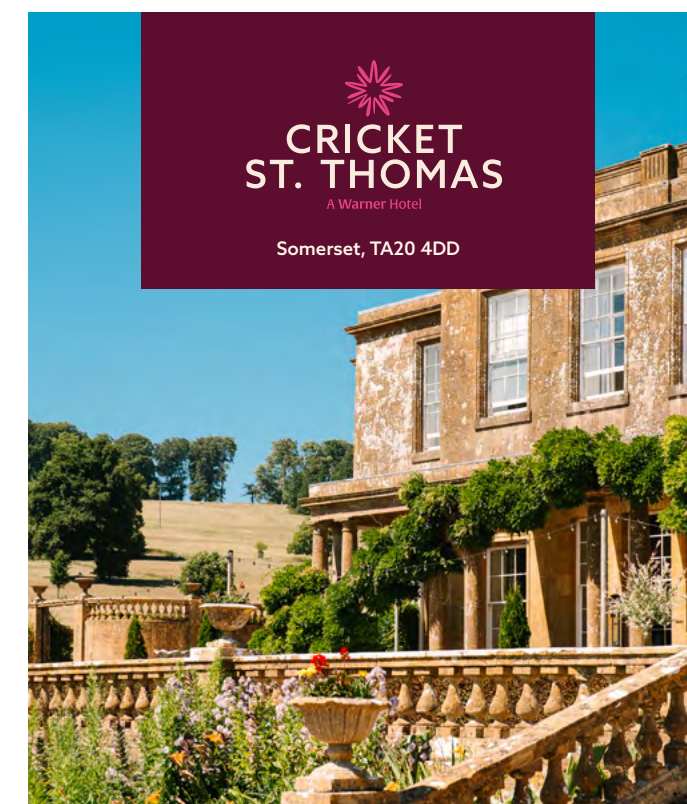

Come for the lamb. Stay for the experience. It's just one of the ways we bring great food to life at Warner.

Premium dining experiences are available at an additional charge. The Big Green Egg is not available at Studley Castle.

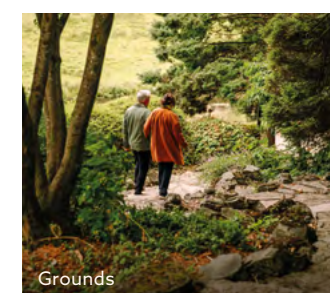

“The Big Green Egg gives the lamb a wonderful smoky flavour while keeping it incredibly tender and juicy. It creates a depth of flavour that's difficult to achieve in any other way.”

Kamila Lachowicz, Head Chef

You could spend the whole weekend exploring the grounds and still find somewhere new.

THE BLUE ROOM

Adam Purdy,
Culinary Development Chef

THE STORY BEHIND THE PLATE

As part of The Blue Room's enhanced dining experience, Chef Adam shares the stories behind three standout dishes, revealing the inspiration, provenance and creativity that bring the character of Thoresby to the table

Hedgerow Fizz

Elderflower jelly, seasonal hedgerow berries and raspberry sorbet come together in a colourful, playful dessert, finished with delicate cornflowers and crisp raspberry shards. Served with a shot of Prosecco, you can pour it over the dessert for a sparkling finish – or simply enjoy it alongside.

The Carrot

This entirely plant-based dish puts locally sourced carrots centre stage, slow-cooked in carrot juice before being roasted in olive oil. Paired with a silky bean purée, subtle curry spices and crisp gunpowder potatoes, it turns a humble seasonal ingredient into something surprisingly special.

Treacle Sponge Cake

A modern take on a much-loved treacle tart, this richer sponge is infused with orange to balance the sweetness, then finished with honeycomb for crunch. Its inspiration comes from local sugar producers, bringing a taste of regional heritage to a familiar favourite.
